Larry Wheeler is one of the leading contemporary equestrian artists in the world. He has traveled extensively capturing the images of horses and horse country in his paintings. Larry has depicted horse country from California to New York, and Canada to much of Europe, but his paintings of Kentucky seem to grasp the essence of what truly makes our state so beautiful. The subtle way he captures the light as it dances across the gentle rolling hills of Kentucky makes his work entrancing.

Upon completion of this series, an auction of works by featured artists will be held to benefit The Fayette Alliance and its mission of advocating for a sustainable Lexington.
